Juror Statement

As the juror of the Hawaii Craftsmen Annual Show, I feel my core responsibility was to select work that reflects the long, rich history of cultural crafts while also representing the broad spectrum of craft production that draws from the diverse fields of new genre, new media, design, and new materials. Regardless of the source, my objective is to select artworks united by the meticulous and masterful handling of the mediums, some illustrating thoughtful and intelligent expressions of traditional materials and processes, some depicting complex hybrid approaches that fuse modern technologies with conventional forms, and others embodying cutting edge aesthetic experimentations that speculate on the dissolution of boundaries between art/craft disciplines and hierarchies.

The goal is to choose each work so that it represents an authentic expression of an individual style and demonstrates the artist's quest to explore the multiple meanings of utility, ritual, conceptualism, and celebration. Further, works should demonstrate the highest standards of artistic quality and superb craftsmanship, and reflect the artist's keen knowledge of materials and techniques. In sum, objects should be aesthetically resolved.

Ultimately, it is my intention that the final juried exhibition convey to the viewer the delicate balance existing in craft objects between the fundamentals of dexterous execution, formal aesthetic tensions, and the daring leap into uncharted territory—that knife-edge of exciting surprise where exquisite refinement meets visionary form. I hope when viewed collectively the spectator will sense the urgency and clarity of the work on display in the Hawaii Craftsmen Annual showcase and feel it is original, self-assured, and expansive in its sensory diffusion and connection to ideas.

Jo Lauria
Independent Curator and Specialist in Craft, Design and Decorative Arts

Jo Lauria is a respected independent art and design historian and curator. Formerly a decorative arts curator at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA), Lauria specialized in modern and contemporary decorative arts, craft, and design. She has published extensively, organized numerous exhibitions, and produced and directed multimedia presentations and documentary films. From 2007-2009 Lauria served as chief curator of the exhibition Craft in America: Expanding Traditions, a nationally touring show that was hosted by seven American museums. Lauria's most recent exhibition, Master of Mid-Century California Modernism: Evelyn and Jerome Ackerman, was on view at the Mingei International Museum, San Diego, March 2009-January 2010. She holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in art history from Yale University and a Master of Fine Arts degree in studio art from Otis College of Art and Design.

Our Annual Exhibition

Amazingly, this is Hawaii Craftsmen's 45th Annual Statewide Juried Exhibition. We've made it this far because of the countless volunteers who have contributed thousands of hours over the years. This tradition of respect and dedication to promote and support the craft community continues because we all value those great resources: hard work and creativity in the arts. This year, more than ever before, the HC board's effort to increase statewide participation has paid off because the show is almost evenly divided between work from Oahu and work from the neighbor islands. Many thanks to all of this year's volunteers (too numerous to name here but you know who you are) and to Abi Good, the chair, for all her efforts to bring everything together successfully.

Aloha,
S. Kay Mura
President, Hawaii Craftsmen

Acknowledgments
